After the last 3 long months of work, I got the very first version of ReadySetup v6 released. I'm very proud of the work that we've made so far and I'm sure that I will keep working on it and improving it for the next months. I decided to start working with ReadySetup as a SaaS solution and I'm very happy about it. Before I show you the list of features, I would like to give you a few insights about the project and the market that ReadySetup aims to cover. Since the last Kickstarter campaign we've spoken to a lot of people. Some have been supporters and contributors, which has been a great experience for us. The most important lesson we learnt from the feedback we got is that there are a lot of small business out there and they could use a good tool to get more attention to their products or services. I'm sure that ReadySetup will 570a42141b
