With the directory instead of the full extension, you should be able to navigate the directories much quicker. Filext.com is a free online service that will allow you to scan.Q: Javascript - hashPassword not working I have a test script that's not working properly. I have a form with the following input: Here is a jQuery script that doesn't work in Firefox (and probably any other browser) var test_fields = $("#test").hashPassword(); What's really weird is that when I view the source of the page in Firefox (or Chrome), I see the password input element as:
